Step from the beach, shake the sand from your feet and step forward into this property and instantly you are taken back to 1910. Frozen in time. From a bygone era when Mazarron was a booming mining community. Instantly you look up to admire the high ceilings and wooden beams, then as your eyes become accustomed to being inside from the brightness of the sun, you are stopped instantly in your tracks as you gaze upon the floor ! The floor jumps out at you ! Hand crafted bespoke "Harlequin design" black and white tiles that are amazing, projecting a three dimensional image. "A real treasure !". The villa basically comprises of, four bedrooms, a central dining room and a kitchen. A storage room that houses an underground water deposi...
